

FIAT Enduro Extreme of Genova, 2. February 2007

Mika Ahola won the Indoor Enduro Race.

Perfect start of season 2007 for Metzeler 6Days Extreme.

Genoa, Italy. The 2006 Enduro World Championship is over, with Metzeler resulting again the number one, able to dominate all the three classes like in the fabulous 2005 season. But the willing of victory is a strong driver for Metzeler, coming from the soul of the German Brand.

There was nearly no time to celebrate the great 2006 results, neither after the Enduro Six Days race in New Zealand, last appointment and last success for Metzeler, because 2007 was already incoming.

The first international venue was the FIAT Enduro Extreme of Genova, in which Metzeler has won, once again, dominating with Mika Ahola and his Honda CRE450F the main event. Additional also the race sponsored by Golden Tyre was won by the Metzeler rider T. Pellegrinelli.

The outstanding performances of the Metzeler 6Days Extreme were underlined most of all in the technical part of the racetrack, through rocks, fords, logs and extreme climb.

Ahola and his Honda at the 1° place

The fantastic atmosphere of Genoa.

The first WEC race will be the Winter Enduro GP of Sweden (17.-18. March 2007). Let's start the new season.
